Finance Officer, Budget and Analysis

Queensland Health / Brisbane

- $79,716 - $86,739 p.a. + super
- Ongoing role

About Us
Queensland Health (QH) provides leadership for the health sector, creating an environment that encourages innovation and improvement in health service delivery. Through our policy, governance and corporate functions we support consistency across the state, including through our partnerships with the Hospital and Health Services (HHSs).

The Finance Branch provides leadership and business solutions to QH and our partners through the provision of advice, strategic financial policy and strong governance frameworks.

About You
As the Finance Officer, Budget and Analysis you will contribute to a range of Finance Branch activities, using effective communication and engagement skills to foster positive working relationships with stakeholders from across work units / disciplines.

You will use your skills and experience to rapidly acquire knowledge of the legislation and financial management frameworks that apply to QH.

Your ability to process large amounts of data from multiple sources, coupled with your experience in researching and analysing information will be used to develop logical and clearly presented reports for stakeholders, and be used as the basis for the practical solutions you recommend.

There are no mandatory qualifications for this role.

Key responsibilities include:

- Provide advice and reports on a range of financial activities to QH and HHS stakeholders, with a primary focus on enterprise bargaining costing and corporate management reporting.
- Identifying and developing implementation strategies to support business improvement.
- Establishing and maintain reporting systems, including forecasting templates.
